

Surrender To Failure

Lost alone here in the dark

Looking for answers I will never find, I'll never find

*God knew all along that He would take you
And the demons were set loose to claim their prize, I am their prize*

Everywhere I turn, I can't escape you

Did everything I could to hide

For every good thing I've done, there's a price to pay

And that price has left me horrified, God, I tried

Now I'm the one who never chose this

Now I'm the one who walked a narrow line

And I would do anything to bring you back to me

If only God would let me turn back time

I've failed

I've failed

I've failed
